

I am appalled by the blatant flouting of election laws that Sinclair broadcasting has expressed in its intention to pre-empt regular programming on its stations one week before the election.
The pro-Bush, anti-Kerry smear "documentary" Stolen Honor has no business being shoved down the throats of viewers on public airwaves so few days before the national election. This is obviously a free campaign commercial for Bush and is expressly prohibited by election laws.
I implore you to force Sinclair by your good offices to cease and desist from their plan. If they want to, let them air the show on cable "pay-per-view" as Michael Moore intends to do with Fahrenheit 9/11.
Now that would be fair.

Thank you for your attention, Robert Trebor
